Know Before You Go Summary

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO (KBYG), in its sixth full season, continues to evolve as the premier, basic avalanche awareness program for the UAC. This year we gave a record 154 KBYG talks to nearly 18,000 young adults statewide. Also, this winter we focused on smaller groups such as outdoor oriented schools along with scout groups. Our hands on clinics were a tremendous success and students got to practice with avalanche rescue gear along with getting a close up view of snowpack layering and evaluating avalanche terrain. A partnership formed last year with Backcountry Access puts avalanche beacons, shovels and probes into students hands so they can practice with this critical rescue gear. ❄️

New Partnerships

As outdoor winter recreation continues to blossom, more and more people are in need of basic avalanche education.

THE KBYG PROGRAM BENEFITTED from a generous donation with a new partner, the Hans Saari Memorial Fund, along with continued support from REI. Both grants allowed us to continue focusing on a broad avalanche education scale while affording us the opportunity to concentrate on special clinics for more advanced users. We look forward to continuing and strengthening these partnerships. ❄️

Additional KBYG Outreach and Future Direction

WE CONTINUE TO ADDRESS the broader agenda of basic avalanche outreach for the community and focus our efforts on groups that need hands on avalanche education for their immediate activities. Scout and church groups in Utah fit the bill and this year we became more involved with scouting, conducting several Saturday morning beacon and snowpack clinics. In addition to our evening presentations, we also presented the program to Scout leaders during round table discussions. This great conduit enables us to get our message to leaders who in turn scheduled the program for their groups. We were also invited to Scout-o-Rama, an event attended by 10,000 scouts state-wide, allowing us the opportunity to connect with more leaders, making inroads with a population that often isn't aware of our services. We anticipate that the impact of these talks will continue to grow with time as today's scouts begin to make decisions for their families and their own scout groups as adults.

As outdoor winter recreation continues to blossom, more and more people are in need of basic avalanche education. We plan to continue offering KBYG on a statewide level to schools, scout and church groups and hope to expand our outreach to even more groups next season. The amazing success of the program speaks for itself and we know we're saving lives. ❄️

Face of Fitness

THE FACE OF FITNESS is an exciting new pilot program aiming to increase exposure to concepts of, and careers in, science & technology. By teaching these courses as applied to lifelong sports, the program builds awareness and interest in the benefits of physical fitness, sport, healthy nutrition and healthy lifestyle.

On Friday March 19th, the Salt Lake City School District brought together students from Escalante Elementary and Northwest Middle Schools for a special “snow science” day at Soldier Hollow Resort. The setting for the 2002 Olympic cross country ski and biathlon competitions was the perfect venue for this opportunity to demonstrate how science is applied to both ski racing and avalanche forecasting. Guest instructors Ian Harvey from Toko Ski Wax along with Craig Gordon and staff of the Utah Avalanche Center, led a team of volunteer instructors to make this day a successful and engaging experience for all the student participants.

The day-long activities at Soldier Hollow perfectly exemplify the nature of the Face of Fitness program and the partnership with KBYG. In addition to the UAC, the program also has a committed partnership between the Salt Lake City School District, the State Science Advisor in the Governor’s Office of Economic Development and the Salt Lake City Mayor’s Office. ❄️

Backcountry 101

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH BRIGHTON SKI RESORT we continued the very popular Backcountry 101 program. A three hour evening class is followed by an on-the-snow field day giving side country users the basic skills they need to conduct a partner rescue, recognize avalanche prone terrain and safe route finding, identify weak layers in the snow pack and most important of all the keys to the kingdom- how to avoid avalanches all together. The results have been very positive and along with Brighton's Ski Patrol we're making great strides to connect with this fast growing segment of Utah's riding community. ❄️

Know Before You Go Program Results

A RECORD 154 PRESENTATIONS WERE MADE BY 22 INSTRUCTORS

in Utah during the winter of 2009-2010. There were 17,842 participants, down from 25,733 in 2009. Since the inception of KBYG in 2004, 115,510 people have gone through the program and our perfect record of no Utah program participant fatalities continues.

In addition to presenting the 50 minute awareness program, we expanded our Know Before You Go outreach by presenting a 2 day technical avalanche workshop to a group of professional and aspiring pro freeskiers at Snowbird Resort in December as part of an effort to build a culture of avalanche awareness in the pro community with high public exposure via films and product promotion. We believe that an effective way to build awareness among young aspiring freeriders and side country skiers is to build awareness among their role models and show the pros assessing avalanche conditions on film before charging the big lines.

The KBYG program and video are used by avalanche centers both nationally and internationally, reaching out to thousands of additional backcountry users of all disciplines. The extremely popular KBYG video is also shown on the closed-circuit Snowbird TV channel several times each day and is regularly viewed by several thousand more locals and tourists alike. ❄️

KBYG Presenters

Meet the Phenomenal Personnel Behind the Program

WE'RE EXTREMELY FORTUNATE to have such a qualified staff which includes many ski area patrol and snow safety personnel, local guides, and UAC forecasters. With nearly a dozen presenters, we take the show on the road and talk with school groups, usually in an all school assembly style presentation. Many of the presenters will juggle several talks in a day, often speaking to thousands of young adults. This dynamic team of dedicated snow professionals deserves a tremendous amount of credit. It is their hard work and commitment to avalanche education that makes the program so successful. Our message is progressive, proactive, effective, and gets national exposure. As a matter of fact, CBS Evening News highlighted KBYG during the programs initial pilot winter of 2004-05. They came back to update the story last winter, airing a segment focusing on the programs amazing success in its first five years.

CRAIG GORDON

Originally from New Jersey, Craig started skiing at the age of four and knew from early on he wanted to make a living on skis. Growing up, he skied the big mountains of the Garden State and surfed the world renowned, epic conditions of the Jersey Shore. Shortly after moving to Utah in 1985 Craig began his snow and avalanche career with the Brighton Ski Patrol, working at the resort for ten years. He moved on for more challenging work as a helicopter ski guide for two seasons before hiring on with the Utah Avalanche Center (UAC).

This is Craig's twelfth season with the UAC and he is the sole avalanche forecaster for the western Uinta Mountains. In addition to his forecast duties, Craig regularly teaches dozens of avalanche awareness classes. In 2004, Craig created the highly successful Know Before You Go avalanche awareness program and video. All or parts of the program have been adopted by other mountain communities both nationally and internationally and his video is used worldwide as an introductory awareness film. In 2009, Utah was the first state in the nation to offer Craig's Know Before You Go avalanche awareness program as part of their 8th grade health and phys-ed core curriculum.

GR FLETCHER

A 16 year veteran from Snowbasin, GR has held the position of assistant snow safety for the past 8 years. His personal professional avalanche education experience includes American Avalanche Institute levels 2 and 3 and AIARE level 3. Not only is GR an experienced climber and mountaineer, he also taught English as a second language to both adults and children in Taiwan for three years.

DOUG WEWER

Doug started out ski patrolling in Pennsylvania, worked as a winter caretaker and volunteer patroller in Tuckerman Ravine, and then moved to Utah in 2000 to learn about avalanches and, of course, ski real powder. In addition, he worked the medical side of things on the Olympic downhill courses. In the winter, you might find him patrolling at Snowbasin, sending backcountry observations to the UAC, teaching at a Level I course or training his search dog, Syringa. In between storm cycles, he works as an engineer for the U.S. Forest Service in Ogden.

MICHAEL MORRIS

Mike has been in the ski industry for 19 years, currently working as Assistant Ski Patrol Director at Snowbird Ski Resort. Mike is a world traveler and adventurer, working as a guide both in the Grand Canyon and Nepal for 15 years. He was on top of the world in 2002 with a successful ascent of the SE ridge of Mount Everest. When he's not bagging big peaks, Mike enjoys playing with his son Max and the newest addition to the family, his daughter Olive.

RALPH WHATLEY

Ralph started his ski patrol career at Snowbasin in 1985 and has worked as a professional patrolman for 26 years, 22 of them at Snowbird where he is the military weapons coordinator and training facilitator. Before settling in at the 'Bird, he worked in New Zealand and in France, at Chamonix les Grands Montets. Ralph brings a tremendous amount of experience and energy to the program.

GABE GARCIA

Gabe has been a pro ski patroller for 30 years and with KBYG since the beginning. For the first three years of his career he worked at Beaver Creek Colorado, before settling in at Alta for the next 27 years. He's been involved with both the snow safety program and avalanche education for eighteen years. In addition to his duties at the ski resort, Gabe is a certified avalanche rescue dog handler with WBR, currently working with his dog Binx.

PAIGE PAGNUCCO

Paige works as an Outreach and Education consultant for the Utah Avalanche Center in Northern Utah. She lives in Logan with her husband, Toby, and their 3 children.

DAVE RICHARDS

For the past nine years Dave has worked as a full-time Alta ski patroller and a part time helicopter ski guide for Wasatch Powderbird Guides. He is also an avalanche rescue dog handler and member of WBR. Prior to his career at Alta, Dave traveled around the world competing extensively as a professional big mountain free-skier. He has been featured in countless films and magazine covers and brings a vast amount of knowledge and an edgy approach to the KBYG program.

JAKE HUTCHINSON

Jake is Director of Ski Patrol and Snow Safety at The Canyons, Vice-president of WBR, and the only level 'A' validated dog team in Utah with 5 legs instead of 6. In addition, he's a certified AAA instructor, working for American Avalanche Institute in his spare time. When he doesn't have his face buried in the snow somewhere, he can be found biking, bagging peaks, wandering the desert, or fly-fishing somewhere high in the Uinta's.

SAM LEE

Sam patrolled for eight years at Kirkwood, Whakapapa in New Zealand, and The Canyons. Along with being a competitive Big Mountain skier, she is sponsored by Alta Ski Area, Roxy, and Surefoot at The Canyons. Her best ski competition result is 3rd at the New Zealand Nationals in 2005.

GRANT HELGESON

Grant Helgeson joined the team midway through the 07-08 winter, but he quickly got up to speed, teaching avalanche awareness talks to hundreds of students in no time at all. An active ski mountaineer from Montana, for the past two years Grant lived just outside of Jasper, Alberta, logging hundreds of backcountry ski days. Three years ago Grant moved to the Park City area, becoming a project manager for Backcountry.com. We're happy his career path took a different direction and can't wait for him to rejoin the crew this winter.

ANDREW HENNIGH

Andrew Hennigh has ski patrolled professionally for nine years, three in Colorado at Eldora Mountain Resort near Boulder and six years at Park City Mountain Resort. In the summer he's a river guide on the Colorado River in Westwater and Cataract Canyons and also cuts ski runs for Park City Mountain Resort. In addition, Andrew is currently attending Utah Valley University for Earth Science and Environmental Management.

MARK SAURER

Mark Saurer is a life-long Utah and Park City resident. His chosen career of ski patrolling started in 1987 and has included time in Sun Valley, small volunteer hills in Michigan and Wisconsin, and finally Park City where he has been an assistant Snow Safety Supervisor for PCMR since 2006. Time off his skis is spent in the southern Utah desert and Northwoods lakes country with his wife Kristi and their 3 Malamutes.

CHRISTINA BRUNO

Christina Bruno is a Ski and Snowboard Instructor and Therapeutic Horse Back Riding Instructor through Americorps at the National Ability Center. Christina loves the back country and anything outside! She lost a good friend in an avalanche and was involved in the search. Because of this experience she got involved with avalanche awareness, helping others make smarter decisions.

TRENT MEISENHEIMER

Trent Meisenheimer grew up in Utah, skiing and snowboarding the Wasatch mountains since the age of two. He can be found most winter days pursuing his passion- hiking the backcountry, shredding Utah's famous powder. In the winter of 2009 Trent completed his Canadian Avalanche Association Level One Operations Course. In addition to teaching numerous KBYG classes, Trent also guides for Utah Mountain Adventures and helps teach their Avalanche Level One Course in the winter months.

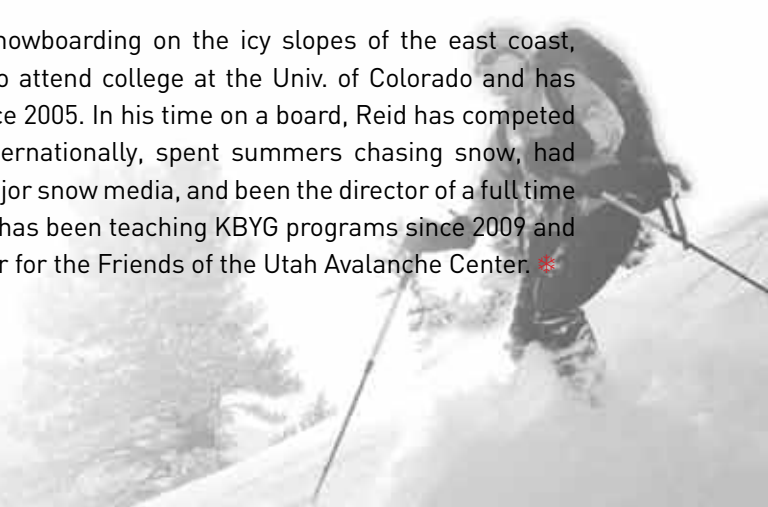

DAVE KICKERT

Dave Kikkert is a life-long Utah resident. His interest in avalanches began as a teenager and his avalanche education began with courses at the University of Utah and Utah State University. He worked for the avalanche center in Logan throughout college and combined snow science into his graduate work. He currently works as a biologist while spending as much time in snow as possible.

REID PERSING

Reid Persing began snowboarding on the icy slopes of the east coast, moving west in 2001 to attend college at the Univ. of Colorado and has been living in Utah since 2005. In his time on a board, Reid has competed nationally, traveled internationally, spent summers chasing snow, had photos published in major snow media, and been the director of a full time coaching program. He has been teaching KBYG programs since 2009 and is also a board member for the Friends of the Utah Avalanche Center. ❄️

Testimonials and Notes from Friends

Hi Craig,

Just a quick note to tell you how much I appreciated the awesome experience of the class. You guys are incredible. It was an "avalanche" of information that kept me swimming but I have lasting impressions from the field work. We certainly seemed to have textbook settings with the conditions from what I could tell. Again, thank you! You guys taught us so much. It was an epic experience for me.

Rich

Hi Craig,

Thanks again for your enthusiasm and support for the Winter at Westminster program. We truly appreciate it! Have a wonderful summer -

Cheers, Liz Fogels

Dear Mr. Morris

We really appreciated your visit we learned a lot about avalanche safety! Thank you for your time!

Thank you so much,

Carey,

Thanks for putting together one of our finest in services in a long time. Each month we go over topics that we need to update our certification hours. But today's lecture was GREAT. It addressed some safety concerns that we sometimes don't even think about. Craig Gordon is a fantastic presenter and his knowledge of the subject outstanding.

Your UDOT guys, Bill and Craig are a great resource to us being so close in Provo Canyon.

Again thanks for doing the leg work putting this class together. Everyone there learned a great deal.

Craig,

Thank you, Reid, and the Utah Avalanche Center for another fantastic presentation of the Know Before You Go campaign. The students are always fascinated by the footage and hopefully they use the information to help make a Good judgment call. My principal is a strong advocate and believer in this campaign. Thank you for all you do, we look forward to seeing you again next year. Hope to see you slope side.
