

their tour. On the day of the accident, this area had been closed to skiing because of avalanche hazard.

The rescue was carried out quickly and competently. Only an hour and fifteen minutes was spent from the time the patrol was notified until the victim was placed in the ambulance. Quick action saved Steward's life.